Yule Collections Mount As Drive Nears Finish

By Dorothy Bartels

Christmas time is approaching fast and most BYU students are looking forward to a happy holiday with their families—opening a pile of presents underneath the Christmas tree and then sitting down to a Christmas feast.

But there are a lot of families in Provo and the surrounding areas who can't afford a Christmas dinner or a lot of presents maybe not even a Christmas tree.

Brighten Yuletide

In order to do away with this condition in just as many homes as possible the Associated Men and Associated Women of Brigham Young University are hard at work collecting toys, clothing, and food to brighten Christmas for everyone.

The drive is scheduled to end at 5 p.m. today, and a number of students still have not turned in contributions. There are still several lights which are not lit on the Christmas tree in the Science Building lobby, but at the time the Universe went to press, Val Norm, R. Veda, Tom Kalon, O. S. Thovata, Cam Los, and Nautilus social units, ROTC Sponsor Corps, Gamma Phi Omicron, and Knight Hall had reached the 100 per cent mark and had their lights turned on.

Many Helped

At least 264 persons will be helped by the drive this year. This number comprises 31 groups of people, including families and children's wards in local hospitals.

Collections may be turned in today between the hours of 12:31 p.m. and 4:55 p.m. in room 181 of the Student Service Center. Students may also make their contributions in the cafeteria on campus. A large collection can be seen placed at the cashier's desk in each cafeteria for this purpose.

Co-chairmen Lynn Stahell and LaPrele Olsen have urged that each student on campus participate in the drive to make Christmas merrier for themselves as well as others.

Contributions will be packaged this weekend and sent to the Utah County Welfare Office, who will distribute them.

Annual Yule Dance Slated for Saturday

The last dance of 1953, Mistletoe Frolic, will be held Saturday night in the Social Hall and Joseph Smith hallways, immediately after the game with Texas Christian University.

Dress will be heels and hose and tickets may be obtained for 75c per couple. Don Rooney and Gus Shields will furnish the music. Delta Phi, the dance sponsors, have chosen as the theme, "Candlelight on the Mistletoe."

Wilford Geddes is dance chairman and his assistants include Lloyd Stevens and Owsa Sweeten, publicity; Jim Merrill and Clare Snow, decorations; Paul Nuttall and Ken Glover, refreshments; Stan Houston and Keith Munk, tickets; and Wendell Jensen and Dave Swainston, intermission.

Christmas trees, pine and mistletoe wreaths with electric candles, and signs wishing everyone a Merry Christmas will be the featured aspects of the decorations.

Y Students Ready Monday Night Television Show

Over 150 students will participate in a giant holiday television show to be broadcast from the BYU fieldhouse Monday at 10 p.m. All students who desire to see the show must be in their seats by 9:30.

Featured on the show will be the a cappella choir, Howard Huff, Barbara Benson, Dick Hobson, Lorbor Erickson, Virgil Camp, the Worsley sisters, Delta Phi chorus and foreign students depicting Christmas in their respective countries.

Admission will be free. The show will be carried over station KODY.

Nursing School Students Plan Informal Farewell Reception

Student nurses of Brigham Young University School of Nursing will give a program and informal reception for the 40 sophomore nursing students Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Joseph Smith auditorium and ballroom.

Serving as a farewell, this party will feature the girls for the first time in their new uniforms. The uniform, a result of an international contest for a dress characteristic of BYU women, is robin-egg blue trimmed with white collar and cuffs and touched off by BYU royal-blue buttons, belt, and tie. To complete the dress are white hose, shoes, and cap.

Glad Going
At the beginning of winter quarter these forty girls will transfer to Salt Lake campus. This consists of the LDS and Primary Children's hospitals.

In Salt Lake the girls will receive advanced training in obstetrics and pediatrics as well as complex medical and surgical instruction. When they return in approximately two years they will do psychiatric work at the state mental hospital and public health nursing at the state, county, and city health departments.

Coming South
When they are seniors they will return to Provo to complete their training.

These girls have had unique experience by spending time in the Utah Valley Hospital during their freshman and the first of their sophomore years. Nursing students usually do not start hospital training until their sophomore year. Here they have observed operations and performed basic arts such as making beds and giving hypodermic injections.

Speakers for the farewell will be Dr. Nephi K. Keslerian, a prominent Provo orthopedic surgeon, and Maria Johnson, head of practical nursing at the Central Utah Vocational School in Provo. Dr. Keslerian formerly worked for United Nations in India, teaching polio therapy.

For 16 years Maria Johnson was director of nursing at the LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City. She is a national leader in her profession.

Miss Vivian Hansen, director of BYU School of Nursing, is in charge of the meeting with Beverly Thyvete, instructor in nursing, as chairman of preparations.

Products of Student Effort Shown in 'Wye' Publication

by Dick Scholle
Universe Tuesday Editor

The Wye is a literary magazine written by students and published for students. The purpose of the magazine is to stimulate students to produce creative writings. There are many students on campus who have abilities and qualifications for creative writing. These students have an outlet in the Wye for their writings.

Student Experience
The magazine also gives students experience in organizing and managing a staff, and publishing a magazine.

The Wye is edited by five students and assisted by a faculty member. The editorial staff consists of an editor, Dick Pope, an assistant editor, and three section editors. Each section editor is in charge of either fiction, non-fiction, or verse. The editor is chosen by the publications committee, the same committee which chooses the editors for the Universe and Banyan.

Each quarter, students have an opportunity to submit their creative work for publication. After all manuscripts have been collected, the six staff members separately read each writing and rate them. The works are rated either "not fit for college standards, possible for publication, or should be used." The six members then agree upon what articles shall be used.

Each Work Rated
Since all manuscripts are submitted with names attached on separate sheets, the readers are

Report Shows Iran Advance

A Brigham Young University Point Four educational delegation in Iran is performing an "outstanding" work in furthering the secondary education program in that country, according to a report received recently by Dr. Ariel S. Balif, acting dean of the Summer School.

Heading the entire secondary education program under Point Four is Dr. Reed Morrill, BYU professor of educational administration. Dr. Morrill has been assigned an office in the Central Office Building in Teheran and will assist in developing a teacher-training program for secondary teachers at the University of Teheran.

In his report Dr. Morrill cited the work of Max Berryessa, assistant professor of elementary education at BYU, who he said is held in "extremely high repute" by Point Four officials in Iran.

able to rate each work without knowing its author.

The Wye is not only for students with literary writing abilities. All students have an opportunity to submit their own photographs and art work. Each issue has several photographs, and each article has accompanying art work.

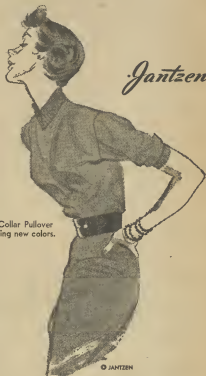

Agronomists Hold Meet

Diamond Jubilee

The holidays are almost upon us, and another quarter at BYU has slipped away. This fall quarter has brought many new romances to the BYU campus. A long list is available nearly every week. The names this week will be the last for this quarter, but the holidays will undoubtedly supply more names for the first publication of the new year.

In the line of marriages we have news of Brent Jones and Dawn Hickenlooper taking vows in the Salt Lake temple on November 24. Brent is head of the ROTC drill team, and Dawn is affiliated with the Spanish Corps. October 30 was the wedding date of Delta Phi East Smith and Iris Hansen. They were married in the Idaho Falls temple. On Friday, Dec. 11, Mary Carol Holquist and Ray Allred will repeat marriage vows in the Salt Lake temple. Mary Carol is affiliated with Val Non social unit, and is a member of the Cougarettes, while Ray belongs to the Bricker social unit. Dewey Brundage finished football season and then immediately turned his attention to Kathy Clark and thoughts of marriage.

There are many new engagements made known this week. Two Californians, Gerry Hockstetter and Karl Engemann are announcing their engagement, as are freshman Joyce Bennett and Donald St. Gilles. Cougarette Kay Christensen is now sporting a sparkling diamond from Don Dudley who is serving in the armed forces. Another serviceman and former Y-ee, Richard Grant announces his engagement to Lou Jean Peterson. They are planning to be married on December 23 in the St. George temple.

Campus Branch Sunday School counselor John Burnett is now engaged to freshman Dorothy Stone from Ogden. Marlene Miller recently received a diamond from Clair McKell, Clair is soon to leave on a mission. Louise Stowell from Arcadia, Calif., is announcing her engagement to Ray Warner from Utah. Bernice Nelson, who works in the treasurer's office, is engaged to Arizonian, Karl Pagar.

MISTLETOE IDEAS—Keith Farnsworth, Salt Lake, looks perplexed over supported intentions of Jerry Hansen, Orem.

Females Wait for Spring Thaw To Melt Males' Icy Hearts

by Colleen Young • Universe Society Writer

I sat down with the intention of writing something original, or at least clever, but I can't think of anything like that. However, I can think of men.

It's true, man probably isn't, either of these things, but he is the most amazing creature I have ever met. He possesses a strength of mind and a control of emotions which will never be equaled by his female companions.

Unlike the young ladies who know about mistletoe and remain weak minded and emotional from January to December, his fancies only turn to thoughts of love when robins and tulips are around. Cupid's arrow can't pierce him unless he is picknicking in Rock Canyon, rambling through hidden lanes on creek tanks, viewing city lights from green foothills, or lingering on grassy slopes to watch the sun go down.

Snow on Timpanogos is covered with snow, and when "lover's" lanes and grassy slopes are seen no more. Mistletoe has no effect on him, and his heart becomes as hard and cold as icy pavement.

It's true he can't keep his head through the whirl of a beautiful waitress at the Belle of the Y ball, or brave a warm moonlight walk down campus hill in June. But, watch him at the Preference Ball or Mistletoe Frolic in December. A girl might as well save her $1.25 and stay away from the mistletoe. He doesn't even soften. He could sit back then and watch the last of his friends venture into the very jaws of marriage without catching anything more lasting than a cold.

Intelligent, Too

Besides being the most beautiful creature in existence (he thinks), he's also the most intelligent. At least he knows more about physics and politics. But, except for a few short months in springtime, he lives only in his own little world and is unaffected by outside stimuli. It's a mystery to me that one can be so intelligent when comes to finding the square root, and so completely stupid when it comes to simple things like women and mistletoe.

We BYU coeds, who know about mistletoe and fall in love all year round, will go on smiling for him, studying for him, dressing for him, cooking for him, standing under the mistletoe for him, and living for him, but we'll never understand him.

Well-Known Reindeer Tells All

NORTH POLE, ARCTIC. Looking very dapper for an 18-point buck with chalked muzzle and matching white tail assembly, Dasher, famous front-running reindeer for the S. Claus Parcel Service, stated today:

1. Conditions on the northern tundra are pretty much the same as ever. No-o, TV hadn't affected the grazing habits of the middle-class herds.
2. That despite reports to the contrary, you don't ever thoroughly adjust to sub-zero weather, regardless of the warm esteem people hold you in.
3. Rumors of a reindeer strike for Christmas Eve are unfounded. Somebody's got a termite in his antler.

When asked about the most popular Christmas gift down through the years he replied without hesitation: "Menswear by Manhattan. I've helped haul Mr. Claus's sled, roe and luck, night unto forever . . . so I ought to know . . . nothing makes a man happier than shirts, sportshirts, ties, pajamas, heshwear or underwear labeled Manhattan. Don't know whether it's the live style that makes a man look and feel so good, whether it's the traditional tailoring detail, or the array of fabrics, patterns and colors that are all so unmistakably quality. I'll admit one thing. I've kind of wished sometimes that Manhattan would make deerwear."

Language Confab Attended by Faculty Members

Attending a language arts convention in Los Angeles last week were several teachers from Brigham Young University. The meet was held Thursday through Saturday at the Statler Hotel.

Those representing the elementary training school were Georgia Mauser and Mary Nielson. Those from the secondary training school were Mrs. Anna B. Hart, Miss June Berry, Mrs. Faye Buttle, Kenneth Weight, Rowan C. Stutz.

The language arts convention program for elementary, secondary and higher institutions is being revised by the National Association of Teachers of English. It was reported. They are writing four books. The first, dealing with language arts in general, has already been published. The next three will deal with elementary, secondary and college curriculum.

BYU Students to Conduct First Nationwide Marketing Survey

by Dick Mendosa
University College Editor

The first nationwide marketing survey will be undertaken by Brigham Young University students during the Christmas vacation, Weldon J. Taylor, associate professor of marketing, announced at a luncheon Tuesday.

No survey of grocery store prices has been taken by the U.S. government or American universities, according to Professor Taylor. Because of this, he declared, we cannot determine comparative prices in cities of the United States.

Purpose of the survey is to determine food store price patterns throughout the United States, according to the survey questionnaire which was prepared by Boyd Glaschman. Grocery stores are the most significant field of marketing, representing 25 per cent of sales in the United States.

Based on Sales
Representation in each of the nine regions in one survey will be based on volume of sales. That all surveys must be complete and correct was stressed at the luncheon.

William F. Edwards, dean of the college of commerce and vice president in charge of finance at BYU, was unable to be present at the luncheon because of illness, but spoke to the group by wire. He stated that the survey would help cement relations with business men in Provo.

Seventy students will take the price survey in 200 grocery stores in 30 cities. Of the 70 students to take part in the program approximately half are marketing students and will receive class credit for their work. Others will receive $2 for each store surveyed. Teams will go to stores in major U.S. cities, Calgary, Alta., Canada, and Anchorage, Alaska.

To Be A Check
Both Salt Lake City and Denver will be surveyed but one city from the intermountain region will only be used as a check. To determine an accurate pattern of prices, 20 to 24 stores in Los Angeles will be surveyed.

Fresh produce and fresh meat will be the most difficult to survey, Richard Rex said, because of different quality and cost. Rex, graduate student from Richland, Wash., is general chairman. Personnel chairman is Gene Kunz, Commerce club president.

The survey will cover at least 115 items in fields of canned goods, cereals, cleansers, farm household items, miscellaneous grocery items, dairy products, frozen foods, fresh produce, and fresh meat.

BYU's marketing survey began with surveys of Provo stores and then covered Salt Lake City, Ogden, and Price, Professor Taylor said. Last year all major cities in Utah were surveyed.

KBYU Staff Positions Open; Auditions Set for Dec. 14-17

Auditions will be held Monday through Thursday, Dec. 14-17, for all student talent to be used on next quarter's radio programs, sponsored by the BYU radio department.

Jim Ludlow of student radio station KBYU is in charge of auditions. Students wishing to participate should contact him at his office between 2 and 4 p.m. any day during the audition period. Any student who cannot meet during those hours should call ext. 464 and make a special appointment with Mr. Ludlow.

On Your Own

Auditions will be held in Studio B in the Speech Center. Students should prepare their own material or interview prior to the audition. All programs will begin on January 4, 1964.

There are four programs to be cast, and all need various talents, Mr. Ludlow said. The programs are broadcast over the three local stations, but are taped at the KBYU studios earlier in the day.

For the Campus Crier program, broadcast over KQVO from 9:30-9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, an announcer, newscaster, sports-caster, society news editor, and student commentator are needed. The announcer and newscaster will be on the air every night and the other three will alternate during the week.

Paper on Air

The Brigham Young Universe of the Air is broadcast over KCSU from 5:15-5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. For this program, in addition to the announcer and newscaster, who will appear nightly, four feature editors are needed to alternate on programs—one each for a

Two five-minute daily programs are also done by students—BYU news, and BYU bulletins. BYU news is broadcast Monday through Friday over KBYU from 6:45-6:55 p.m. A newscaster is the talent needed for the program.

For BYU bulletins, broadcast over KQVO from 22:05 p.m. Monday through Friday, two reporters are needed—a fellow and a girl. They will alternate on the daily programs.

Both fellows and girls are eligible to try out for any position. Mr. Ludlow stated, although fellows are preferred for sports casting and girls for society.

Messiah Chorus

"Messiah" has been presented at Brigham Young University since 1947, Mr. Sardoni said. It has been one of the most popular choral works ever composed and has been sung more than any similar work, ever since its completion in 1741.

The oratorio is divided into five sections, each one dealing with a different phase of Christ's life and mission on earth. It begins with The Prophecy, and carries through The Fulfillment, The Passion and Crucifixion, The Glorification, and The Resurrection.

Choral favorites as "For Unto Us A Child Is Born," "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," and the ever-popular "Hallelujah Chorus" are included in the oratorio.

For Charity

Mr. Sardoni pointed out that Handel himself invariably performed the oratorio for charitable purposes and that the work has earned more money for charity than any other musical composition.

"The text of 'The Messiah' is truly an inspired selection of words from the scriptures," Mr. Sardoni said, adding that without such a challenging text, Handel, in all probability, would never have risen to this summit of his genius.

DATE SET FOR ORATORICAL PRELIMINARIES

Preliminaries for the annual Rotary oratorical contest will be held Tuesday, Jan. 26, in the speech center, according to Dr. J. LaVar Bateman, forensic director. Registration will be Monday in the forensic office, 25 North building, or with Dr. Bateman in the speech center.

All students are eligible to enter, except last year's winner. The subjects should be on some phase of world peace or some international problem.

Three finalists will be selected to appear before the Provo Rotary International, where they will select the winner.
